Whether it's hurricanes, fires, floods, tornadoes or earthquakes, you can count on The Salvation Army to be there, providing aid to survivors and first responders. But providing disaster assistance isn't always easy and The Salvation Army depends on a cadre of highly trained disaster workers and volunteers to be ready to respond at a moment's notice, mobilizing more than 9,000 trained and spontaneous volunteers during the 2017 hurricane season. Your support of The Salvation Army's 2019 Disaster Training Summit will help ensure that our disaster workers continue to receive the specialized training and tools they need to be prepared for the next emergency.

About the Summit

The Salvation Army Disaster Training Summit is a biennial event designed to recognize and train disaster workers and promote disaster volunteerism. The summit offers more than twenty (20) certified training courses on emergency management and disaster preparedness from The Salvation Army and partner organizations. Indoor and outdoor exhibits showcase The Salvation Army’s custom fleet of mobile disaster equipment, including mobile kitchens, food service delivery units, field kitchens, satellite communications trailers, command posts and shower trailers alongside products, services and new technologies of benefit to disaster workers. Expected attendance is approximately 400 disaster personnel. For more information and a complete schedule of events, visit www.salvationarmydisastertraining.org

Highlights for Sponsors and Exhibitors

The 2019 Summit includes several special events designed to increase interaction between summit delegates and our sponsors and exhibitors. Highlights include:

- A Tuesday evening dinner in the exhibit hall with fun and games, followed by an exclusive ‘sponsor’s reception’ with Salvation Army disaster leaders.
- A Wednesday night ‘Canteen Cook Off’ dinner in the outdoor exhibit area followed by dessert and a ‘Basket Bonanza’ giveaway in the exhibit hall.
- Lunches and breaks in the exhibit area on Tuesday and Wednesday.
